Started by Lorenzo Fonzone Caccese in 2005 on land that has been in the family since 1856. The modern hilltop winery is located 80 km east of Naples, in Campania Italy.

Fiano of Avelino di Fonzone comes from vineyards located in the municipality of Lapio, in the heart of Irpinia 600m above sea level. Planted on clay-loam soils with north, northeast exposure to a density of 2500 vines per hectare. Grapes are picked in the wee hours of the morning by hand at the beginning of October. Fermented at low temperatures for a month, the wine is aged in stainless steel for five months, with periodic battonage.
